UO Giving
- The UO's current $2 billion fundraising campaign is the state's largest ever. It will advance excellence in teaching and research, create unprecedented levels of access for deserving Oregon students, and greatly enrich the student experience.
- The UO received a record 55,038 gifts and pledges totaling $214.2 million in fiscal 2015. That's the second-highest annual total ever. Contributions have exceeded $100 million for eight years running.
- Donors make gifts to the UO through the UO Foundation, a separate nonprofit entity that receives, invests, and distributes funds resulting from gifts.
- As of June 30, 2015, the market value of the UO's endowment surpassed $700 million. Since 2002, it has quadrupled in size due to a combination of strong UO fundraising and UO Foundation investment performance. It is the largest of the endowments at Oregon's public universities.
- The UO Foundation’s investment performance over the last 10 years places it among the top 25 percent of similar institutions nationwide.
